Grace Wu is a 2019-2020 articling student at Cassels Brock. She first joined the firm as a summer student in 2018.

Grace graduated from the J.D. program at Western Law as a member of the Dean's Honor List. In law school, Grace was awarded the Law Society of Upper Canada Prize and the Baker & McKenzie Award for excellence in research in the area of Public International Law. She was an active member of her student community as a Staff Editor for the Western Journal of Legal Studies and an Associate Caseworker for Western Law's Community Legal Services Clinic. Grace also represented Western Law at the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition.

Grace obtained her undergraduate degree from the Honors Business Administration program at the Ivey Business School at Western University. Prior to joining Cassels Brock, Grace worked in the Audit and Assurance group at PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, with a focus on the banking and capital markets sectors.

In her spare time, Grace enjoys listening to podcasts and watching true crime documentaries. She is also an avid Vancouver Canucks fan.
